ENGL 2500.004
Literary Analysis and Interpretation
Tuesday, Thursday: 11:00-12:20. Language 219
Office Hours: T, TR 12:30-1:30 (And by appointment)
Office 106 Auditorium

Introduction
This course is meant to introduce students to various aspects of literary criticism and analysis, with a special emphasis on a kind of worldly engagement with the texts. By worldly engagement, I mean simply that our scholarly work need not only engage with the texts alone but should have some bearing on the world outside the academy. This connection with the outside world is absolutely crucial if we believe that humanities and humanistic education can make a difference in the world.

Over the course of this semester we will read various primary texts and various theoretical works in order to enable ourselves to perform culturally and politically engaged readings and writings.

This is a reading and writing intensive course and I hope you all come prepared to have informed and exciting discussions about the texts and about the world.

Required Texts:

Handouts:
- Poetry Selections (Will be handed out in the first week of semester)
- Brief description of various critical approaches.
- Example: New Criticism.

Videos:
- What is Literature Part 1
- What is Literature Part 2
- New Criticism

Course Policies and Requirements:

You are expected to come prepared for class: This involves reading the assigned texts, listening carefully to your peers, and contributing your views in a collegiate and stimulating way. Attendance is mandatory.

Distribution of Points:
Journals 200 Points
Weekly Quiz 100 Points
Class Participation 100 Points
Mid Term exam 300 Points
Term Paper 300 Points

Total 1000 Points

YOU MUST FINISH ALL MAJOR ASSIGNMENTS TO PASS THE COURSE
Journals: (200 Points)
Over the semester, you will write and submit 10 one-page journal responses to various prompts. I will grade these for the conciseness and correctness of your comprehension of concepts. No make up journals!

Weekly Quiz: (100 Points)
Over the semester I will administer 10 reading quizzes. The quizzes will be meant to check if you have been reading the assigned texts. Quizzes will be administered on each Tuesday during the first ten minutes of class. THERE WILL BE NO EXTRA TIME ALLOWED, which means if you are late to class and the quiz has already been administered, you will MISS the quiz. No make up quizzes!

Mid-Term Exam:
The Mid-term will be an in-class exam administered in the 8th week.

Class Participation:
As this is a course based on a discussion format, your thoughtful participation is essential to the success of the class. I encourage collegiate, open, and thought-provoking class discussions. Remember, we are all here to learn, so let us share our ideas and knowledge to make this class into a dynamic learning experience.

Term Paper: (Guide)
The final term paper will be due on the last day of class. The paper should be 12-15 pages, with a clearly defined thesis and a coherent argument using one or two of the theoretical approaches discussed in class. I would encourage you to choose your topic early and do extensive research. I will be available to assist during all stages of your research and composition process.

Attendance:
You are expected to attend the class regularly. You will be in the danger of failing the course if you miss more than FOUR class sessions.

Cheating and Plagiarism:
Check the policy HERE.
