SYLLABUS

RECOMMENDED TEXTS (on reserve):

*Composition majors continuing in the program will be expected to purchase this text.

COURSE PRE-REQUISITES:

All students enrolled in MUCP 1180 must fulfill the following pre-requisite requirements:
  • Admission to the College of Music;
  • Enrollment in or completion of Theory I (MUTH 1400) and Aural Skills I (MUTH 1410).
All students enrolled in MUCP 3090 must fulfill the following pre-requisite requirements:
  • Admission to the College of Music;
  • Successful completion of all core MUTH courses (i.e., Theory I-IV and Aural Skills I-IV).

Students who do not meet the above requirements must make an appointment with the course instructor immediately or risk being dropped from the course.

Students enrolled in MUCP 1180 who have passed Theory I-IV and Aural Skills I-IV may wish to enroll in MUCP 3080 instead of 1180. The courses meet concurrently and have the same requirements, though they differ as follows:
  • MUCP 3080 is 3 credit hours; MUCP 1180 is 2 credit hours;
  • As a 3000-level course, MUCP 3080 may be applied toward advanced elective credits (e.g., for the Bachelor of Arts degree), whereas MUCP 1180 may not.

Please contact course instructor for more information; any changes must be made by the twelfth day of classes.
COURSE STRUCTURE:

General

The purpose of this course is to explore a variety of compositional techniques, repertoire, concepts, and aesthetics from the recent past, and to provide students interested in composition with the basic tools needed to compose effectively in contemporary idioms. Because music history and theory curricula focus primarily on music from the “common practice” era (c.1600-1900), this course supplements that material by focusing on music composed since 1900. Thus, it serves as an important foundation for the study of contemporary composition at the undergraduate level.

MUCP 1180 is required for all prospective undergraduate composition majors, and is also offered as an elective course for qualified non-composition majors (including BA students). MUCP 3080 fulfills a composition requirement for undergraduate theory and jazz arranging majors. Given the variety of students enrolled, the course attempts to achieve the following goals:

• To provide a broad foundation for future composition majors, enabling them to effectively practice their craft in a variety of contexts.

• To provide theory and jazz arranging majors with compositional experiences outside of those they are more familiar with in their respective degree programs.

• To provide non-composition majors with the tools necessary to understand and appreciate a wide variety of contemporary musical idioms and aesthetic perspectives.

The material covered in this course is critical to the understanding of current compositional trends; as a result, the amount of work required may be considered quite significant by many students. Prospective composition majors who do not feel up to this challenge should seriously consider pursuing another major. Although MUCP 1180 may be taken concurrently with Theory I and Aural Skills I (MUTH 1400/1410), students who have little or no previous experience in theory and/or composition may find the material beyond their grasp at present. It is recommended that those students either consider another major or defer enrollment in this course until completing additional semesters of Theory and Aural Skills.

Learning Outcomes

By the end of this course, students should attain the following skills:

• Understanding of a broader definition of the term “music” through exposure to contemporary musical idioms.

• Strategies for listening to unfamiliar music, with an understanding of the appropriate cultural, historical, theoretical, and aesthetic contexts.

• Development of critical thinking skills and the ability to assess “quality” in a wide variety of music.

• Recognition and application of various melodic, harmonic, rhythmic, and structural materials.

• The ability to create short but cohesive and effective musical compositions, drawing upon a wide range of techniques and stylistic approaches.

Class meetings

The class meets three days each week and consists of three interrelated components:
Lecture: includes intensive explorations of repertoire, techniques, concepts, and aesthetics presented in the listening, score study, and reading assignments. These topics set the context for the guided composition projects assigned throughout the semester.

Laboratory: focuses primarily on the technical aspects of the composition projects and general compositional issues. Projects are read (performed) and discussed during the lab sessions and topics from the listening, score study, and reading assignments may be further explored through group discussions.

Departmental (MUSIC NOW): These weekly meetings are attended by all of the composition students from entering freshmen to doctoral candidates. Because of the diversity of experience represented by the students in attendance, MUSIC NOW presentations may range from introductory-level to very advanced topics, and subjects run the gamut from commercial to avant-garde experimental music. These presentations are intended to expose students to current musical practices and issues, thus supplementing the more historical material covered in the lecture portion of the course. MUSIC NOW presentations include lectures, demonstrations, panel discussions, video presentations, and performances featuring guest artists, faculty, students, and alumni.

The regular meeting schedule is departmental (MUSIC NOW) on Mondays, lecture on Wednesdays, and laboratory on Fridays; however, this schedule may change in order to accommodate guest artists featured on MUSIC NOW (see schedule below for details).

ASSIGNMENTS:

Weekly assignments include guided composition projects, listening and score study, readings pertaining to contemporary music, and an online journal. Students are also required to submit a concert review of one of the three composition division events they are required to attend for this course. Guidelines for each of these assignments are included on the course website, and on the Blackboard site. You are responsible for following these guidelines, so please make sure you have read this information carefully. It is important that these assignments are done in a timely manner, as this material will be discussed during class meetings. Listening and score study materials are available on the fourth floor of the Willis Library: recordings are on reserve in the audio library, and are also available online at https://audioreserves.library.unt.edu (log in with EUID and password and select this course). Scores are available on carrel 433; you may remove them temporarily, but they are to be returned immediately after use. Reading assignments, as well as the project assignments, lecture materials, and other course information may be obtained from the course website: http://www.courses.unt.edu/jklein/1180-3080.

Examinations

You will note that there are no examinations for this course. However, students planning to continue in the composition program will be tested on the content of MUCP 1180-1190 (3080-3090) at the Freshman Barrier Examination prior to enrollment in MUCP 2180; refer to http://music.unt.edu/comp/students/policies-procedures#undergrad/FBE for details.

PORTFOLIO:

Students in this class—particularly those planning to continue as composition majors—are encouraged to maintain a course portfolio, which will contain the following:

• Composition project materials: an ample supply of lined staff paper, notebook paper, graph paper, and plain paper is recommended.
• Copies of reading materials, course handouts, and score examples: these may be used to prepare for the Freshman Barrier Examination and for reference during future academic work.

• Completed composition projects: prospective composition majors may wish to include these in the subsequent composition portfolio, which will be reviewed at critical points throughout the degree program (e.g., composition jury, senior recital hearing).

ATTENDANCE:
Since there is much material to cover during the course of the semester, punctuality is crucial; to this end, chronic tardiness will be considered in the attendance portion of the grade (for the purpose of grading, 3 late arrivals = 1 absence). Students with more than four unexcused absences (or the equivalent) are subject to failure at the instructor's discretion. Students are also expected to attend at least three concerts within the Division of Composition Studies (this is in addition to any concerts presented during MUSIC NOW). An attendance record will be available to sign at all composition division events including MUSIC NOW; do not forget to sign this sheet in order to receive attendance credit!

GRADING:
Final grades will be based upon composition projects, supplementary assignments (including journals and concert reviews), and attendance/class participation (including concert attendance) and distributed as follows:

- Composition projects (45%):
  - projects 1-6 (@ 5% ea.) 30%
  - final project/reading 15%

- Supplementary assignments (30%):
  - journals 25%
  - concert review 5%

- Attendance/participation: 25%

Students may keep track of their progress by viewing their grades on Blackboard (https://ecampus.unt.edu/webct). Please inform the course instructor or teaching assistant immediately if you notice any discrepancies or missing grades.

HANDOUTS:
The following handouts will be distributed on the first day of class, and are available on the course website; make sure you have reviewed these materials by the end of the first week of classes:

- Course Syllabus
- Course Survival Guide
- Preliminary Survey
- Preliminary Assignment

Additionally, a list of scores and recordings and assigned readings are available for download on the course website.

NOTES:
The College of Music complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act in making reasonable accommodation for qualified students with disability. If you have an established disability as defined in the Americans with Disabilities Act and would like to request accommodation, please contact the instructor of this course as soon as possible.
The UNT Code of Student Conduct provides penalties for misconduct by students, including academic dishonesty and disruptive behavior in the classroom. Further information, including consequences for unacceptable behavior, may be found at http://www.unt.edu/csrr/student_conduct/index.html.

The Student Evaluation of Teaching Effectiveness (SETE) is a requirement for all organized classes at UNT. This short survey will be made available to students at the end of the semester, providing a chance to evaluate this course; further instructions will be provided at that time. You are strongly encouraged to complete this online survey prior to the end of the semester.
